Police, Highway Officials Ask Motorists To Stay Home Many Schools Close At Noon

State police and state highway department officials joined today in warning motorists to "stay home" as a new snowstorm struck, piling up more than seven inches of additional snow before noon. All the snow-removal equipment of the county highway garage, 19 snowplows and three graders, was called back into service this morning. J. William Kendlehart, superintendent, said.

All highways were still passable to automobiles and trucks equipped with chains, but driving conditions were difficult, visibility was poor and he reaches the age of 35.

The will of his father, Angelo Camberis, former proprietor of the Plaza restaurant, who was fatally injured in an auto accident in 1933, provides that the money be given to the son when he reaches the age of 35. George Camberis is now 27. Attorney Richard A. Brown represented the Gettysburg National bank, executors of the will. Attorneys I. J. Jamison and Thomas F. Devine, Philadelphia, represented George Camberis with Attorney J. Francis Yake as local counsel. Judge W. C. Sheely will hand down an opinion in the case.

ASKS COURT TO CHANGE WILL OF LATE MERCHANT

Dehoff was also directed to enter into a bond for $500 on his own recognition and to pay the costs.

A number of desertion and non-support hearings were continued. They concerned the failure of the men involved to keep up payments.

The defendants were Earl E. Burns, Hanover, and Preston Gladefield, Hanover R. 3, both of whom are to appear again January 7; Lawrence Harris, Abbottstown, continued to January 24 and Amalong Sease, State College, continued to April.

John Diehl was appointed auditor in Hamiltonian township.

A number of bonds were approved by the court. They included three bonds, totaling $2,667, for Register and Recorder Harry D. Ridinger; two bonds totaling $12,667 for Probationary Wayne K. Shields; bonds of $5,000 each for Commissioners Kari Smith and Clark Fettner, and a bond for $3,750 for Coroner C. G. Crist.

ASK MERCHANTS TO CLEAR WALKS

The borough highway department, barely recovered from the snowfall of last Friday, began preparations this morning for handling the new storm.

Snowplows returned to their work this morning and Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Winebrenner had crews out clearing sidewalks on Lincoln Square and elsewhere.

The snowplow will not go into action until the storm subsides, he said.

Clear Walks Tonight

Merchants and property owners were again requested to shovel the snow from their sidewalks into the street before nightfall.

Trucks and snow removal crews expect to work most of tonight. Winebrenner urged that sidewalks be shoveled before the snowplow passes. If storekeepers wait until later, more snow is piled along the curbs, interfering with the parking of automobiles, Winebrenner said.

The borough engineer said it was to the advantage of each merchant to have the snow cleared away from in front of his place of business.

LEGION TABLES "TIDE OF TOYS" PLANS FOR '52

The Albert J. Lentz post of the American Legion, meeting Monday evening at its home on Baltimore street, learned that the Tide of Toys, on a national scale, has been abandoned this year.

The information left the local post undecided whether to continue the Tide of Toys drive locally or to abandon the program which during the last two years has brought thousands of toys into the local Legion home for distribution overseas.

Edward A. Linsky, adjutant of the Pennsylvania Department of the American Legion, explained, in a letter to the local post, that the American Legion nationally has "regretfully abandoned" its Tide of Toys program this year because "of the inability to secure ships which are so vitally needed during this period of emergency in the transportation of national defense material and our men overseas."

Seek New Members

Some posts are planning to continue the Tide of Toys locally this year. Linsky said in his letter, "to be distributed in the local communities to orphans, underprivileged children and others as may need your support."

Members of the post voted to permit the officers to seek out needy families and help them with food

LICENSE SUSPENDED

The state Liquor board has suspended the license, effective January 8, of Alexander N. Draper, Locust inn, New Oxford R. 1, for 10 days for the reason that it is not a hotel where the public may obtain sleeping accommodations with meals, in that food is not regularly prepared for the public; insufficient permanent bedrooms available for the use of guests; maintained unsanitary premises.

There was music by some of the youngsters, a movie and then gifts from Santa Claus and a helper who appeared as the program ended. There were story books for the younger children and pens and candy for those who were seven years old and over.

The program, which followed a turkey dinner served by the women of the church, opened with Ricky Shadie singing "Away in a Manger" accompanied by his brother, Sidney, at the piano. Carolyn Musselman was the next on stage for a solo. Louise Collins played two piano solos followed by her brother, Barclay, and then the two of them played a duet. There were also piano solos by Eddie Nowicki and Fred Smith. Closing that part of the program, John W. Baschore sang "Arise, Shine," by McDermitt, accompanied by Richard B. Shadie.

WORLD CRISIS NEEDS SPIRIT OF XMAS ASSERTS REV. W. E. FISHER

An Associated Press dispatch

Monday reports that the Loyalty Review Board has reopened the cases of 565 federal employees for a recheck under the new rule that a "reasonable doubt" of loyalty is sufficient to bar employment.

Can you imagine that?

What has this country come to? Why does this great country have to employ men and women to determine whether an employee is loyal?

Did your parents ever hear of a Loyalty Board? What must our forefathers be thinking now?

How stupid, dumb, ignorant and ungrateful can an American citizen become to divert, even one-million or one-billion of an ounce of loyalty from this great country to some other . . . like Russia?

What prompts an American man or woman to "sell out" his country? It isn't money, because no foreign country pays even a decent salary to the U. S. firms who peddle information that could mean the collapse and defeat of the United States.

Loyalty!

It is only a few years ago that Loyalty to our country was

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP) — The government today called a meeting of the CIO Steel Workers union and 10 big steel companies here on Thursday in an effort to head off a strike threatened for Dec. 31.

Cyrus S. Ching, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation service, messaged the 10 companies and the union that the possibility of a steel strike is a "matter of grave concern" to the people of the United States. He added: "Any curtailment of operations in this key industry will seriously affect our national economy and have a direct and critical impact on our defense effort."

The union is asking a 15-cents-an-hour pay boost and other concessions. Negotiations have been going on in Pittsburgh but have made little apparent progress. Philip Murray, president of the million-member union, said last night that a strike was unavoidable unless the industry agreed to union demands.

BROWNS ARRIVE ON COAST FOR TITLE CONTEST

Los Angeles, Dec. 18 (AP) — The vaunted Cleveland Browns, kingspins of the National Football League, arrive on the scene today to prepare for their game Sunday with the Los Angeles Rams, for the 1951 championship.

Coach Paul Brown and his defending champions, winners of 11 straight games in the regular season—a string that began against the Rams here early last fall—will stay in nearby Pasadena.

Ram officials meanwhile faced an “unprecedented” demand for tickets to the contest, a renewal of a friendly feud for the pro crown between the two teams.

Cleveland scored a 30-28 triumph over the Rams for the title last December.

No fewer than eight of the Cleveland players will remain in southern California after the battle Sunday, all named today to participate in the second annual pro-bowl classic January 12. The game pits a picked all-star squad from the American conference against all-stars from the National conference.

NAMED FOR BOWL GAME

Players named from the American conference are:

Cleveland—Otto Graham, Dante Lavelli, Lou Groza, Dub Jones, Tony Adams, Len Ford, Ken Carpenter and Bill Willis.

Chicago Cards—Francis Polkfoot, Bill Fischer, Tom Wham.

Washington Redskins—Paul Lipscomb, Rob Goode, Lauri Neimi, Sammy Baugh, Billy Dickey.

Pittsburgh—George Hughes, Bill Walsh, Joe Geri, Jerry Shipkey.

New York Giants—Arnold Weinmeister, Al de Rosatis, Otto Schnellbacher, Emlen Tunnell, Jon Baker, David Coulter, Eddie Price.

Philadelphia Eagles—Mike Jarmulok, Chuck Bednarik, Russ Craft, Pete Pihos.

The National conference squad will be announced later.

Rival coaches are Paul Brown of Cleveland, and Joe Stydahar of the Rams for the American and National divisions, respectively.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Local Miscellany: At a meeting of the new Gas company Tuesday afternoon Jeremiah Diehl resigned as president and Chas. S. Duncan was elected in his stead. The other officers of the new company are: Secretary and Treasurer, John B. McPherson; directors, J. C. Schmidt, P. M. Bikel, George S. Schmidt, C. C. Frick, John B. McPherson and S. A. Hammond.

The show window in the sale room of J. Ramer's bakery is very tastefully fitted up for Christmas and attracts much attention.

Emory Rosensteel, the contractor, has completed the job of placing the granite porch and steps in front of the Eagle hotel. The addition gives a substantial appearance to the hotel and is a very creditable job.

A number of hands employed on the battlefield have been laid off for the winter.

Marriages: Caldwell — Gelbach, Dec. 17, in this place, by Rev. T. C. Billheimer, James M. Caldwell, of this place, to Miss Fannie Gelbach, of Glen Rock.

Gochenauer-Schlosser, Dec. 15, at Arentsville, by Rev. M. M. Noaher, Daniel H. Gochenauer to Miss Sanna E. Schlosser, both of Menallen township.

Gulden—Meals, Dec. 15, at Uriah, by Rev. Oscar H. Gruber, Curtis L. Gulden to Miss Elsie M. Meals, both of Huntington township.

McCleaf—Sanders, Dec. 4, in this place, by Rev. A. R. Steck, Edward K. McCleaf, to Miss Ruth M. Sanders, both of Hamiltonian township.

Business Change: Frederick Thorn, who has conducted a barber shop for many years in this place, has sold the good will and fixtures of same to William King, of this place. Mr. King took possession Saturday, December 14.

Sale: Edgar C. Tawney has purchased from William Barbehenn the butcher stand and dwelling occupied by Eckenrode and Becker, Chambersburg street.

Reception: A most pleasant social event occurred at the home of Mrs. Isaac Herter, living at the edge of town, along the Emmitsburg road, on Tuesday evening. The event was occasioned by the return from their wedding trip of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob I. Herter, to whom a reception was given. There were present about 25 relatives and friends of the newly married couple. The Grand Army Band, of this place, tendered a serenade which greatly enlivened the occasion.

The Soap Factory: The new soap factory building is about completed and the machinery is all here and is being placed in position. Proprietors C. T. Ziegler and M. C. Williams expect to have everything in readiness to begin operations by January 15. The new industry will employ about a dozen hands to start and will increase the number as the demand for the product grows.

Mails on Christmas: The post office will be open on Christmas from 12 o'clock m. to 1 p.m. and from 7 to 7:30 p.m. The early morning collection will be made as usual and a delivery and a collection at 12:30 p.m. will be made.

Another New Industry in Sight: Again an opportunity presents itself to our people to secure for Gettysburg an iron rolling mill that will employ 150 persons with a pay roll of about $5,000 per month to start with.

The site, requiring about four acres, for this industry to locate upon, has already been offered at a very nominal sum, and we hope our people will use every effort to raise the $5,000 asked for.

Think of it, citizens, an industry to employ 150 hands to start with, located at Gettysburg! . . .

The Citizens Band of Biglerville will hold a grand fair and entertainment in Koser's hall on Saturday evening, December 21, 1951. Come and enjoy yourselves.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

GIVE A BOOK!

At this season of the year, when so many people are wondering what to give to a friend or beloved one, I am sure I give good advice when I say, "Give a book," from when you do give something of the mind and heart of another human being, and often that gift has invited the recipient to a new line of thought, and often to a new world!

I recall a letter that a toll bridge attendant in Pennsylvania once wrote me. He said he had never read a book until he was intrigued into buying one that I had suggested in these talks. Then he bought another, and another, until he told me he had a library of 300 books. Two years later I told this story in this column and he wrote that his library had grown to 400 books!

You can't go wrong in giving away a book, or telling someone else about one that has been a delight to yourself. These silent friends keep blessing you from year to year. As a boy books thrilled me. They still do, I think I already have enough for a respectable book store! Books are men and women in condensed form. A study of their thinking, their experiences, their ideals and their purpose in life.

Give a book—one that will instruct, inspire, or merely entertain for the time. We need all sorts of books, as we need all sorts of friends, to satisfy the hunger within us, be it physical or spiritual. There are books we all turn to time and again, for what they give to us in new hope and stimulation. I have a little group that I continually turn to. I set them apart from others in the same manner as I have listed the small group of intimate friends who have been a precious heritage over the years.

Books are friends. And they are changeless. A great book today will be a great book tomorrow. And if it has enriched you once it will do so again and again. I recently re-read Stephen Crane's "Red Badge of Courage." He wrote it when he was but twenty-two years of age. He died in his thirtieth year, yet after fifty years since that time his book still remains a classic, and currently there is a magnificent movie of it. Great books are like old soldiers—they never die!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Today."

CHRISTMAS NOISES

Years ago, with Christmas nearing, glorious noises I was hearing:

Book wrapping, door bell ringing,

Grown-ups many a bundle bringing,

Footsteps running, tones emphatic:

"Put that parcel in the attic!"

"Not for you and stop that prying!"

"My, but children can be trying."

Christmastime for little boys is one of curious, tempting noises.

Now, the door bell rings. No matter deaf I've grown to women's chatter. While they're busy bundle wrapping, on the sofa I stay napping.

This the solemn truth I'm speaking. Gone the joy of Christmas peeking. Stilled the sound of reindeer prancing.

Gone the mysteries entrancing.

But this thought as I peruse them, it's too bad I had to lose them.

Headed For Morgue, Cold Man Revives

New Kensington, Pa., Dec. 18 (AP)—A 36-year-old miner who police started to take to the morgue because they thought he was frozen to death is being treated for severe frost bite today.

Michael A. Varshine of nearby Springdale, Pa., was unconscious when an unidentified motorist found him lying on the floor of his stalled auto yesterday.

Patrolman Stanley Kushner said he was sure Varshine was dead and called the morgue. The morgue in turn notified Varshine's family.

As Varshine was being removed to the morgue, police saw his breath forming a vapor in the zero weather. Kushner said: "At first we didn't believe it when we saw the breath, but as the vapor formed in the cold air we made a quick change in plane and headed for the hospital."

Varshine is reported in fair condition. Hospital officials reported he thawed out enough last night to ask for a second helping of ice cream.

SANTA and the MAGIC MIRROR

by LUCRECE HUDGINS

AP Newsfeatures

Each Child Laid a Finger Beside His Nose, Whispered Words and Up the Chimney They Rose.

SYNOPSIS: Belinda and Tommy enter the mysterious room. It is entirely bare except for a very shabby, milky mirror. Belinda hides it under her sweater. Now, unable to look into the mirror, the giants become horrible hobgoblins once again. They pull Belinda's hair and hurt Tommy and in fright they flee up the stairs and hide under a bed. Belinda feels the mirror pressing against her and realizes this must be what makes the giants gentle. She tries to give it back to them, but they knock her down and the mirror breaks into a thousand pieces.

Chapter 13

THE CHASE

Belinda stared in dismay at the shattered glass surrounding her.

"Now see what you have done!" she cried. She stamped her foot. It was your very own fault. I was trying to return the old thing to you."

But the giants seemed not to care about the mirror. With a holler they chased for Belinda. She dodged between their legs and flew back to the bedroom. Now all seemed hopeless for the giants were at the door.

But Tommy had crawled from under the bed and rushed across the room to a large fireplace.

"Quick!" he called. "Remember Santa's second secret!"

With a gasp of relief Belinda ducked into the fireplace beside Tommy. Each child laid a finger beside his nose, whispered some words, and up the chimney they rose!

"That was a close call," said Tommy when the two children reached the roof of the castle.

"But we're still in a spot," said Belinda. "For how shall we get down?"

Truly there seemed no way to get down. They could neither jump nor climb to the ground. They scurried around looking for an escape. Tommy found a trap door.

"We might as well try it," he said. Belinda agreed. They flung open the door and dropped through. They found themselves in the toomost hall of the castle—seven floors above the ground.

A great staircase spiraled down through the very heart of the castle. Tommy and Belinda started down the stairs. But scarcely had they gone a dozen steps when they heard the seven giants storming up the very same stairs.

Tommy sat down right where he was. "I just can't go any further," he said. His face was white with exhaustion.

"We can't stay here!" exclaimed Belinda.

"There's no where else to go," moaned Tommy.

"Oh, yes there is!" cried Belinda. "I have an idea. Have you ever slid down banisters?"

"Never," said Tommy. "My father would never have permitted it in our house."

"Well, you're going to now," said Belinda. "Quick! Follow me!"

She put one leg over the banister and gave a push. In an instant she was flying down through the heart of the castle. Tommy gave a whoop of joy and slid down behind her.

Down, down, down they zoomed past the seven startled giants, past the seven floors to the very door of the castle. Without a pause they ran outdoors, climbed on Santa's little sled and sped away.

When they were back safe with Santa both children were sad and forlorn.

Santa laughed at them both. "Suppose you tell me everything that happened," he said. So Belinda and Tommy told him about the strange mirror and how much it had seemed to mean to the giants.

Santa was very excited.

"That's the secret of it all!" he cried.

"But it was only a mirror," protested Belinda. "Cracked and bumpy. What could be its use?"

"It was a piece of ice from the Frozen Pond of Winnie the Witch," said Santa. "This is magic ice and will melt the heart of all who see their reflection in it."

"But why didn't they tell us?" asked Tommy.

"They didn't know themselves. They knew they liked to look in the mirror but they didn't know that it

SEE DELAY IN BEGINNING OF PROBE BY JURY

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP) — The start of a grand jury inquiry into Abraham Teitelbaum's story of an alleged attempt to shake him down for $500,000 in exchange for relief from tax troubles appeared likely today to be delayed until next month.

The White House, meanwhile, maintained secrecy on details of the "drastic action" promised by President Truman to sweep wrongdoers out of the federal government, reportedly with U.S. Judge Thomas F. Murphy of New York wielding the broom.

And the House Ways and Means subcommittee whose hearings figured largely in Mr. Truman's decision arranged to question on Thursday Henry Grunewald, about whom some mystery developed in its previous sessions.

Who Lied?

William P. Maloney of New York, Grunewald's attorney, said Grunewald may be released sometime today from Georgetown University hospital here. He is under subpoena and Adrian Dewind, counsel to the subcommittee, said he is due to appear Thursday.

Dewind declined to elaborate, but it was regarded that at least the initial questioning of Grunewald would be behind closed doors. The group last week wound up its presently scheduled open sessions.

Grunewald was hospitalized when the subcommittee sought to question him earlier. One thing members have said they want to ask him about is a $1,000 loan which Charles Oliphant, recently resigned chief counsel of the Internal Revenue bureau, has listed as a debt to Grunewald.

The grand jury inquiry, promised by Attorney General McGrath, is aimed at finding out who lied under oath to the subcommittee about the alleged tax shakedown. Teitelbaum, a wealthy Chicago attorney, accused Bert K. Naster and Frank Nathan of offering to help him out of tax troubles if he paid them $500,000.

PILOT SAVES "DEAD" PLANE

Houston, Tex., Dec. 18 (AP) — An air force pilot made two split-second decisions after both engines on his C-47 transport plane went dead yesterday — and his judgment proved correct.

With the engines dead and an overcast hiding the ground, Lt. Col. Roy E. Bain of Houston first decided to order seven crewmen to parachute.

Then as the plane broke through the overcast, Bain had to decide whether to try for the municipal airport — and maybe crash into a residential area.

Bain chose to risk his own neck — and that of co-pilot Capt. Robert E. Pittman, Mount Olive, Miss. He banked the plane sharply to avoid any possibility of hitting houses and made a wheels-up landing in a pasture 200 yards from the airport. The plane skidded about 500 yards. Neither Bain nor Pittman was injured.

CONFERENCE ON LOYALTY OATH

Harrisburg, Dec. 18 (AP) — A bi-partisan House committee sat down again today hoping to achieve agreement on the controversial loyalty oath bill.

The committee's meeting comes after six lawmakers spent nearly eight hours yesterday trying to iron out "the major stumbling blocks" delaying progress.

Rep. Albert G. Readinger (D-Berks), a committee member, said "considerable progress had been made and agreement is near. I think today's meeting will settle the situation."

The Senate-passed measure would require all government employees to take an oath saying there are not subversives or members of subversive organizations. It has the backing of veterans organizations and opposition from teachers groups and labor unions.

Any agreement by the committee will be offered to the House in the form of amendments to the measure later today. Readinger said he thinks the amendments are accepted he thinks the bill will win approval of the House.

A measure which would have required county boards of assistance to conform with State department regulations was voted down 88-86 last night. A total of 150 votes is required for passage.

In the 1951 New York State Legislature the Republicans had a total majority of 32 in both houses.

Harrisburg, Dec. 18 (AP) — Legislation to give the Public Assistance department complete supervision of relief rolls throughout Pennsylvania has been killed by the House.

A measure which would have required county boards of assistance to conform with State department regulations was voted down 88-86 last night. A total of 150 votes is required for passage.

In the 1951 New York State Legislature the Republicans had a total majority of 32 in both houses.
